

AnSR

Advanced Subrogation Resources

Is it time to call in the experts?

Recovering on fleet damage claims can be a headache. Internal teams work hard, but often don't build winning arguments proving negligence, let alone damages owed. These challenges bog down internal processes, leaving organizations looking for out-of-the-box solutions.

The checklist will help identify pain points within damage claims departments and processes.

- ❑ Loss of use is not calculated correctly or even included in claims.
- ❑ Employee time is wasted processing and/or following up on damage claims.
- ❑ Companies at fault aren't paying.
- ❑ Cycle time for damage claims exceed 30 days on average.
- ❑ Most damage claims are sent to litigation for resolution.
- ❑ Internal teams have trouble developing winning arguments proving negligence.
- ❑ Managing damage claims is not a core competency of employees.
- ❑ Money is left on the table.

SCORE: ____ / 8

The more boxes checked, the more AnSR's services can help.

Contact us today!

TAYLOR@ANSRWEB.COM
ANSRWEB.COM

The Benefits of Experts

Contracting with an expert is the answer to solving challenging damage claims and staffing issues.

AnSR is the expert in property damage claim subrogation and arbitration services. With over 130 years of combined experience and operating 100% contingency-based, we are a low-risk, high-reward solution to property damage claims problems. By outsourcing to AnSR, existing employees can focus on higher-level tasks and their core competencies.

Not all experts are the same, though. Compared with litigation, AnSR is the clear, preferred partner.

We only get paid when you do, so we're highly motivated to build — and close — winning cases quickly. Our average cycle time is 30 days.

We know the answers to the test. AnSR team members served as arbitration panelists for over 5,000 cases, so we know how to tailor a winning argument.

We properly calculate the amount owed, including loss of use and administrative time. For a recent customer, we proved 141% of the actual repair costs!

Litigation will always cost more, and always cost something, even when results aren't ideal. AnSR knows how to properly assess what you're owed and build a winning case, since we only get paid when you do.

Leaning on our expertise is the right call.